Summary Biography

Joan MacLeod Heminway is the Rick Rose Distinguished Professor of Law at The University of Tennessee (UT) College of Law in Knoxville and a fellow of UT-Knoxville's Center for Corporate Governance and Center for the Study of Social Justice. Professor Heminway is a lecturer in the UT Professional MBA program and for BARBRI (Bar Review) and has been a Visiting Professor at Boston College Law School and Vanderbilt University Law School, a faculty member in the Georgia State University Summer Legal Study Program in Rio de Janeiro and The University of Mississippi School of Law Cambridge Summer Session, and a lecturer in the UT Executive MBA program. She attended the Higher Education Resource Services Bryn Mawr Summer Institute in 2009 on a scholarship awarded by UT-Knoxville's Chancellor and is a former President of the UT-Knoxville Faculty Senate.

When she joined the UT College of Law faculty in 2000, Professor Heminway had completed nearly 15 years of corporate transactional law practice (public offerings, private placements, mergers, acquisitions, dispositions, and restructurings) in the Boston office of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP.

Professor Heminway's scholarship focuses on securities disclosure law and policy (especially under Rule 10b-5) and corporate governance and corporate finance issues (including most prominently crowdfunding) under federal and state law. She coauthored (with Douglas M. Branson, Mark J. Loewenstein, Marc I. Steinberg & Manning G. Warren, III) a business law text, Business Enterprises: Legal Structures, Governance, and Policy (Carolina Academic Press, 3d ed. 2016). In addition, her edited/coauthored book, Martha Stewart's Legal Troubles, was released in 2007 (Carolina Academic Press). She has served as a commentator, expert witness, and consultant on corporate finance and federal and state business law matters and is a frequent continuing legal education presenter on business law issues. Her methods and tips for teaching Business Associations are featured in Teaching the Law School Curriculum (Carolina Academic Press), released in October 2004. She is a co-editor at the Business Law Prof Blog.

Professor Heminway also has represented clients pro bono on political asylum applications, landlord/tenant appeals, social security/disability cases, not-for-profit incorporations, and corporate law issues. UT Pro Bono honored her in 2003 for her work with its Animal Law Project. Before commencing her teaching career at the UT College of Law, the Political Asylum/Immigration Representation Project (PAIR) in Boston recognized her on four occasions for her pro bono work.

Additional honors include the UT-Knoxville Chancellor's Award for Teaching Excellence (2006) and the UT College of Law's Carden Award for Outstanding Service to the Institution (2012), Carden Award for Scholarship Achievement (2009), Marilyn V. Yarbrough Faculty Award for Writing Excellence (2005), and Harold C. Warner Outstanding Teacher Award (2004). Professor Heminway was named Quest Scholar of the Week at UT-Knoxville in March 2011. Her stock merger module for the College of Law's Representing Enterprises course was recognized by UT-Knoxville's Innovative Technology Center in its September 2002 Best Practices@UT Showcase.

An elected member of the American Law Institute, Professor Heminway is Deputy Compliance Officer (and a past President and former member of the Board of Trustees) of the Southeastern Association of Law Schools and is a member emeritus of the Hamilton Burnett Chapter of the American Inns of Court. She is a member and has served as Chair of the Association of American Law Schools (AALS) Sections on Business Associations and Transactional Law and Skills and is a member and has served on the Executive Committee for the Section on Securities Regulation. She also is a member of various other AALS sections (Agency, Partnerships, LLCs, and Unincorporated Associations; Animal Law; Teaching Methods; and Women in Legal Education). Other professional affiliations include the American Bar Association (Section of Business Law), Tennessee Bar Association (Business Law Section Executive Committee and Business Entity Study Committee), Knoxville Bar Association, and Boston Bar Association (Business Law Section).

Professor Heminway is admitted to practice in Tennessee (2000) and Massachusetts (1985, inactive).
